AMITY INSTITUTE OF ORGANIC AGRICULTURE

LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

To Whom It May Concern

It gives me pleasure to recommend Mr D Lokesh Goud for higher studies. I have known him throughout his undergraduate education at Amity Institute of Organic Agriculture, Amity University Uttar Pradesh. During my association with Mr. Lokesh, I have seen him delve deep into a subject matter to gain better perspective. His curiosity to ask questions and efforts to come up with possible solutions has helped him develop research acumen over time.

The other quality that stands him out is his strong analytical skills.

Mr. Lokesh has been excellent in academics throughout his under-graduate studies as is evident by his CGPA of 7.36/10.0. I would rate him in the top 5% amongst 190 students in the class. He actively participated in class discussions in my classes and worked on several projects along with other students. He works amicably in group and is often appreciated by fellow students for his work ethics. His project report presentations have been inspiring for other students for explaining things in a simplistic manner.

Mr. Lokesh has successfully completed several research-based internships at reputed organization like ICAR-IIRR (Indian Council of Agricultural Research-Indian Institute of Rice Research). This has further motivated him to apply for higher education where he can hone his skills and achieve future goals.

Mr. Lokesh will be a good addition to your team. With proper guidance and support, I am sure he will be able to achieve his goals and career aspirations.

I strongly recommend him to the graduate program in your esteemed university with full assistantship.

I wish him luck for all his future endeavors.
